PPGNY President's Message

October, 2011

By Paul Bernstein

We recently commemorated the 10th anniversary of the terror attacks on America with our PPSNYS Project 9/11. Photographers from all over New York State photographed activities throughout the state on September 11. Amazing images were captured by some of you and your fellow professionals during that 24 hour period. They will be available shortly for viewing, after a PPSNYS panel selects the best image, which will then be announced at the next PNE convention in March. Keep your eyes open for further information about this.

The month of October will be an interesting one for PPGNY. At our monthly meeting on 10/4 Jim Roselli will present Part 2 of his program “The Practical Side-From Shooting to Post Production”. Jim is a veritable encyclopedia of artistic and technical knowledge, with the added bonus of incredible teaching skills. Then on Monday, 10/31 our annual LI Day Conference will be held with Canon Explorer of Light Ken Sklute as the keynote speaker. I’ve known Ken for many years and his work is truly breathtaking. Before Ken shows off his magic that day, the Graphic Authority will be showing off their own brand of Photoshop magic tricks. To follow along with them, bring your lap top and be prepared to be amazed with this double barreled, full day seminar. Afterwards, please join us for dinner and a little Halloween fun, all included with the seminar. (See the full information about all of our speakers in this newsletter and on the GNY web site.)

Looking ahead, there will not be a regular November meeting, since the LI Conference is being held just a day before the 1st Tuesday of the month. However, the December 6 meeting will be dedicated to a print competition double header. Not only will there be a digital competition, but speaker Mike Travisano will be doing a program dedicated to improving those skills needed to create winning competition images. So get your files ready to enter in December, and then take the knowledge you gain from Mike and our panel of judges to create even better entries for the PNE and PPA regional print comps in February.

I look forward to seeing you all. Paul

Presents

The Long Island Conference

October 31, 2011

Featuring

Ken Sklute

Canon Explorer of Light, Voted Photographer of The Year in New York, Arizona and California 30 times. Awarded the Accolade of Lifetime Photographic Excellence. Awarded 14 Koak Gallery Awards and 15 Fuji Masterpiece Awards.

Ken's Topic will be:

“Compose Yourself and See the Light”

As photographers, we all look at the world and see things uniquely. We often move too fast and miss what is right in front of us. Canon Explorer of Light, Ken Sklute will share his perspective, teach you to see and help you to be more in touch with your creative vision. We routinely pass magnificent locations without stopping because we are not really seeing what is there. Sklute will explain how he goes about finding locations, subjects and photographic environments that yield award winning results. Together, we will explore creative ways of composing. You will learn to see light that carves your subject with grace, depth and dimension. Sklute will motivate and ignite your passion, enabling you to take your craft to a new level of excellence. Sklute will share thoughts regarding traditional and contemporary interpretations of composition. We will discuss the rule of thirds, rules of fifths, dutch angles, negative space, and other elements that help take mediocre images and raise them to unique!

EXPLORERS OF LIGHT

Also Featuring:
